Disappointment

By: Aaron Baker

Everyone struggles at times. Stress, conflict, health problems, work problems, house problems...all these problems can get you down. They can cause you to feel like you are struggling, sinking beneath the challenges of life, drowning in the undertow of problems.

Most often, I am the culprit of my own disappointment. I try to do too many things at once. Then when I don't get everything done, I am disappointed in myself. I try to "exercise" to cure health problems, "confront" to cure people-problems, and "pray" to solve personal-problems, but too often really just rely on myself to "fix" what is wrong. The reality is that I will disappoint myself and others. My goal, therefore, should be to rely on Christ because He will not disappoint.

God's choice seems silly to society's standards (1 Cor 1:27). Not only silly, but foolish. You want to follow a Jewish carpenter that lived nearly 2,000 years ago? To many people this seems ridiculous. However...

God's choice will not disappoint you because God is perfect and His choice is perfect. Jesus is the one chosen by God. Rejected by many, but the actual cornerstone of faith (1 Peter 2:6). Believing and trusting in Him will be a choice you won't regret!

God's choice is valuable. Some people will live their entire lives believing in a lie only to be disappointed in the end. If you put your hope, love, trust, faith in Christ, you will not be disappointed (Romans 5:5). You will let yourself down. I will let you down. God will NEVER let you down!

Pray for our country and its leaders as the Supreme Court will be making a decision on the issue of legalizing same-sex marriage nationwide. May God's Word be their guide. "The unfolding of Your words gives light..." - Psalm. 119:130
